Teacher Comment

Toby has demonstrated an engaged and thoughtful approach to the complex concepts and ideas in the Advanced English course. When constructing an essay response, he has demonstrated the ability to develop an argument using examples from the text to support his observations. His imaginative writing also demonstrates a detailed understanding of a range of literary devices. Toby works well independently and in group situations. His positive approach to learning should allow him to achieve further success in tertiary study.

Teacher Comment

Toby is an exceptional scientist and researcher, who is able to construct logical arguments to reach valid conclusions based on large data sets with ease. His major project, 'The efficiency of electrocatalysts in water electrolysis in reference to first ionisation energy' was well researched, referenced and communicated through scientific terminology and form. Toby is able to analyse and process data using specific software and critically interpret the results to accept or refute hypotheses and report on his findings. His dedication to his studies and passion for science is enviable and will serve him well in his future endeavours.
