Teacher Comment

Zahra has worked diligently in her first semester of Higher School Certificate Visual Arts. Her ongoing graphic illustrations underscored by themes related to technology, nostalgia, isolation and unease reveal careful planning and experimentation with texture, composition and detail. Zahra could mix organic and mechanical elements in her illustrations to further push jarring contrasts both conceptually and technically. Zahra, must, however, adhere to a strict timeline to investigate appropriate printing solutions for her intended panoramic panel and paper sculptures prior to Term 3. Zahra's short answer responses in Section I were interpretive and well supported by evidence, while her case study on Simon Stalenhag and Edward Hopper in Section II yielded high results. It is recommended that Zahra actively enact feedback to address logical progression in her writing.

Thinks imaginatively, creatively, interpretively, critically and discerningly to respond to, evaluate and compose texts that synthesise complex information, ideas and arguments.		✓

Teacher Comment

Zahra is an interested student of English Advanced as is indicated by her enthusiastic and intelligent approach to all class activities. Zahra responds with empathy to a wide variety of texts, demonstrating a thorough understanding of the concepts being covered in this course. Her willingness to share in these forums makes her an invaluable member of the class and allows her to clarify her thoughts on the connections between texts and modules. While Zahra confidently seeks clarification of material if it is required, she does not always give herself the time to respond to this feedback as it pertains to formal assessment tasks. It is this that has impacted on her rank, which is not an accurate reflection of her ability in this course. Zahra struggled to meet the demands of the first task by trying to do too much. This can be addressed in the future with a clear understanding of the purpose of set tasks and a willingness to submit more drafts.
