Teacher Comment

Aashraya demonstrates he is an interested student through his engagement in class tasks. He is developing his capacity to write skilful critical responses and has a well-developed understanding of the texts and modules studied. In his HSC Trial Examinations Aashraya was able to articulate his thoughtful understanding of texts and concepts. However, he needs to revise the technical features of texts and essay structure to ensure that he is responding to the demands of the question. He is encouraged to develop evaluative essays under timed conditions to ensure he is refining his writing skills in preparation for the written HSC examinations.

Aashraya is achieving an outstanding result in the last semester of HSC Chemistry. He can calculate pH using the ionisation constant of water, identify chemical compounds based on their chemical properties and justify the variation in physical properties between different classes of organic molecules. Aashraya could review how to determine whether the self-ionisation of water is exothermic or endothermic. He has built a strong foundation in chemistry, demonstrating a clear understanding of core concepts and their applications.

Teacher Comment

Aashraya has continued to apply himself to the study of HSC Biology this semester. His achievement has been to a consistently high standard. Aashraya achieved an outstanding result in Assessment Task 3, which was based upon a depth study and an excellent result in the Trial HSC examination. In the lead-up to the HSC examinations, Aashraya must now concentrate on frequent revision of Biology content and also consistent practice of HSC examination-style questions. This includes both multiple choice and long-form responses.

Student Self Reflection / Goal Setting

Students are encouraged to reflect on their progress using the prompts below.

1. What am I most proud of from this report?

2. Which of my strengths does this report highlight?

3. How can I further develop these strengths post school to help me build my capabilities in the intellectual, creative, social-emotional and physical domains?

4. What specific areas do I need to work on and why is this important? Consider the areas my teachers have identified and the strategies they have recommended to help me improve.

5. What are my next steps? Are there any new goals I can work towards or existing goals I need to continue to build on? Who can I ask for advice to help me achieve these goals?
