Teacher Comment
Dhinesh has achieved outstanding results in Chemistry throughout the year and is particularly adept with his numeracy and scientific techniques. However, there is some room for improvement in his writing techniques, specifically in higher-order verbs and the use of metalanguage and context in extended responses. This should be easily achievable for a student such as Dhinesh, who has a commendable work ethic and sensible approach to his studies. Focusing much of his revision on critical thinking, cross-module questions from past papers is the best approach for maximising marks in the final HSC examination. I wish him every success in the HSC and future beyond Gosford High School.
