To me, nothing is more important than achieving my best, in whatever I do, whether it be academics, work, sports, music or leisure. I am, therefore, extremely motivated to reach my full potential in the course I have selected (being a Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering), and to make both my family and the community proud.

It is also pleasing to see him raise the level of sophistication of his writing, which is evident in both the prepared and non-prepared sections of the exams.                               |

Although his Trial result is a little disappointing it highlights some areas to work on, including ensuring that he addresses all aspects of the question. Daniel seems more motivated and focused to improve and I am confident he can.    |
| Music 1Mark Rantl                       | 2          | P                | A           | 86%       | 1/5       | Daniel's musical interests have grown greatly throughout this year, and I am happy to see that he has been applying a range of new skills to his personal projects and compositions. As a performer, he has become very versatile and I believe that his passion for music is his most valuable asset. |

Class Teacher Comment

Daniel significantly increased his efforts in the lead up to the Trial exams. It is important that he maintains these efforts until the HSC exams. In his role as the school Captain, he not only helped set a high standard for the class of 2019 but also for the whole student body at Wollemi. I wish him the best of luck with the upcoming HSC and beyond.

He has come first in the Year 11 Advanced course and topped the recent exam, partly by virtue of his ability but mainly because he is always the most thoroughly prepared in the class for all assessable tasks. |
| Extension 1 EnglishBrett Wright         | 1          | P                | A           | 25/50     | 33/50           | 4/7             | Daniel's creative writing in both his class work and the exam shows a pleasing attention to detail and developing control. His analytical writing consistently has a strong thesis, well supported by textual detail. He is also able to write at some length.                                 |
| MathematicsBrendan Williams             | 2          | P                | A           | 96%       | 89%             | 1/9             | Daniel has worked diligently throughout the year and none of the content has challenged him. He methodically completed all the past papers I gave him in the lead up to the final exam. He has been a pleasure to teach.                                                                       |

His result in the preliminary exam truly reflects his knowledge of the subject. Daniel will continue to produce consistently good results if he sustains his motivation and excellent work ethic.                             |
| Modern HistoryIan Ison                  | 2          | P                | A           | 100%      | 88%             | 1/14            | Daniel has performed at a very high level in Modern History. His historical investigation was very well done and his exam responses were excellent. Daniel has an excellent knowledge of the course content and he can express his ideas very well in written form.                            |
| Music 1Mark Ranftl                      | 2          | P                | A           | 95%       | 96%             | 2/5             | Daniel has a great attitude in Music and has made a lot of effort to improve in all areas throughout the year. I am pleased with his dedication to Music, and that he consistently applies himself outside of class through composing and performing.                                          |
