ALESSANDRO STILLONE VI MSJ/WJM - TERM III 2023

Tutor's Letter to Housemaster

Dear Max,

Alessandro has achieved some very good results in the recent Trial Examinations. He saw improvements in English Advanced and Physics. His other results, while strong, were within what we have come to expect from him. His masters have regularly commented on his maturity in tackling the academic demands of Form VI, and he should take pride in the fact that his consistent dedication augurs well for the HSC examinations ahead.

Alessandro has certainly enjoyed a rich variety of co-curricular activities in his time at Grammar. In summer, he rowed in the Second VIII and was awarded Colours for his efforts. Alessandro's musical talents have also been on display this year, performing at Grammarpalooza. He has also frequented Ceramics Club and Ceteris Paribus, the latter of which led to him achieving some very good results in the Australian Economics Olympiad. Alessandro remains a dedicated member of the Army Cadets, where he attained the rank of Warrant Officer Class 1.

Alessandro is a mature young man who has consistently demonstrated the ability to keep the many plates of a busy Grammar life spinning. He consistently conducts himself in a respectful manner, and he is respected by his peers and masters alike. It has been a pleasure acting as Alessandro's tutor for the past five years, and I wish him the very best in his future studies and beyond.

WJ McArthur - Tutor

Housemaster

Alessandro has made excellent progress in his final year at College Street. Since Form I, when I taught him in PE, Alessandro has always been mature for his age. His ability to converse and express himself whilst displaying a wide range of emotions is something I both respect and admire. I am sure success will find him in his life post-School.

Class Marks

The individual subject reports include class marks for each subject. Note that class marks are based on marked work completed in class and/or for homework. These marks represent the ongoing process of formative assessment, and are distinct from the summative nature of School examinations. Class marks are generated by individual masters and are not moderated between classes. They should therefore be interpreted only within the context of the work undertaken by that individual class. To assist with that interpretation class marks are represented graphically, in a manner explained by the following diagram:

Class Descriptions

To assist with your interpretation of class marks within their appropriate context, a description of the class your son is in has been included with his subject report.

Streamed class means that boys have been arranged into classes according to past examination performance.

Parallel class means that classes have not been arranged by past examination performance, and there may be several similar classes.

Single class means that class is the only one in a subject for a cohort.

English Advanced (Parallel class) - NA Smith

Alessandro, with his consistently relaxed and positive approach, has continued to make pleasing progress in English Advanced. He has submitted homework promptly and made progress in his essay writing with sustained focus on technique analysis. Although Alessandro's results in the recent Trial Examinations were a mixed bag, his A range results in three of the sections meant that his overall achievement was excellent. He should be proud. With timed practice of essays in each of our modules now, Alessandro can look to consolidate and finesse the excellent textual readings he has developed. I have very much enjoyed having Alessandro in my class this year and wish him all the best.

Mathematics Advanced and Extension 1 (Streamed class 1 of 4) - WJ McArthur

Alessandro is a diligent and capable pupil who has demonstrated a sound understanding of the concepts in the Mathematics Advanced and Extension 1 courses. He achieved some very good results in the Trial Examinations, where he demonstrated fluency in tackling routine problems in both papers, and was able to apply mathematical techniques to some less-familiar contexts in the harder problems. All that is left to be done at this stage is for Alessandro to continue practising past papers in order to gain exposure to unfamiliar problems. Alessandro has put himself in an excellent position in the lead-up to the HSC examinations, and he should be congratulated on his efforts.

Physics (Streamed class 1 of 2) - PC Knight

I have been impressed with Alessandro's dedication towards his study of the Physics course. His performance in the Trial Examination was much stronger than previous assessments indicating that his application and revision are progressing.

An analysis of his examination paper indicated good knowledge of the course content. His ability to answer extended response questions has developed well, and he is confidently writing long answers. The level of detail in his written responses is good, but he could still work to include the details to demonstrate to an examiner he fully understands all the underlying concepts. I would encourage him to keep up the good work and to construct specific notes on each syllabus point in the course with an understanding of what would be suitable for high-level responses.

I wish him well in his HSC examination.

Italian (Parallel class) - C Rupolo

Alessandro achieved a sound result in the Trial Examination. In both the listening and reading comprehension sections, he was able to isolate most of the relevant information and provide accurate, detailed and intelligent answers. His oral communication skills are impressive. He speaks fluently and confidently and is capable of actively engaging in conversation in all set topic areas. An area that needs attention, however, is the writing section. I encourage him to plan his responses more carefully; he must respect the features of the text type, address his audience appropriately and establish a clear context for writing. He must also improve his grammatical accuracy, vary his vocabulary and aim at more depth in his responses.

It has been an absolute pleasure teaching Alessandro over the years. I'm hoping very much that whatever he chooses to do, he'll keep up his Italian skills.

Economics (Parallel class) - TZJ Huang

Alessandro has been a fantastic pupil who has performed to a high standard this semester. He is congratulated for his excellent results, which reflect a strong understanding of economic concepts, relationships and theories.

This was seen in his Trial Examination performance, where Alessandro scored 88/100, including 20/20 in the multiple-choice section and 37/40 in the short answer responses. His economic analysis is a testament to his hard work, commitment and bright future in commerce, should he choose to pursue this. Alessandro can further improve his extended response writing for the HSC by submitting practice responses for feedback.

Alessandro has been a consistent contributor to the class and a pleasure to teach.

Design and Technology (Single class) - WJ French

Alessandro has realised his Major Design Project. His cooling vest and respirator concept combined multiple skill-sets and underwent many iterations to find its final form. He has worked hard and done his utmost to transfer the process across to his written folio, if not always in a timely manner. Alessandro has shown a good aptitude for the subject as is evident in his third assessment task, where he achieved 27/30, providing a comprehensive analysis of his management strategies in his MDP. Alessandro has also managed to secure 32/40 with his Trial Examination, performing especially well in his Section III essay. He can still refine his knowledge and understanding for the theory component further prior to the HSC examination. I have enjoyed watching Alessandro overcome challenges this year.
