The field of engineering and its constant developments fascinate me due to the unremitting opportunities it presents for continual growth. Entrepreneurs and scientists through sheer curiosity and determination, create new inventions to further the quality of life of mankind. Such engineering feats I have grown up marveling at have thus inspired me to study engineering. The course I have chosen is a Bachelor of Mechatronic Engineering; a discipline of engineering that integrates its most important aspects.

I completed my primary and secondary education at S. Thomas' College Mt. Lavinia, one of the most prestigious schools in Sri Lanka with a rich history of more than 165 years. It is a pioneering institution which has understood and nurtured the very best in youth characterized by hard work, dedication and determination with national leaders, business leaders and intellectuals as notable alumni. I obtained 9 A passes for my Sri Lankan Ordinary Levels and 4 A* passes with a total mark of 2199 out of 2400 for my Edexcel Advanced Level Exam – both of which are pinnacles of my academic career at school. I chose to pursue my Advanced Levels in the stream of mathematics as I was interested in its challenging content that was also an extension of what I had learnt for my O-Levels. These subjects expanded my ability to think and model real world situations. I always try to recognise practical scenarios behind the theory that I learn as it helps me to understand its applications.

I scored the highest marks for Physics, Chemistry and Further Math in my school consequently achieving the highest aggregate score in my Advanced Level cohort. The subjects I undertook during my Advanced Levels meet the pre-requisites for the Bachelor of Engineering at The University of Sydney. The outstanding results and my diligent work ethic throughout my Advanced Level Course instills confidence in me that I possess the necessary preliminary knowledge and the skills to satisfactorily meet the demands for this degree at The University of Sydney.

In addition to my studies, I was also thoroughly involved with the activities of the Interact Club in college where I held the offices of Secretary and Director of Community Service. During my tenure, I was chairperson of 'Project Soul'; a joint project conducted which involved a medical camp and an aid camp for over 900 individuals in a rural village in Sri Lanka. The success of this project was greatly noted when it won the award for the 'Most Outstanding Community Service Project organised by an Interact Club in Sri Lanka and the Maldives in 2018.' I also completed up to Grade 7 in piano and speech & drama, which helped further my aesthetic interests. During my school career, I also did athletics and participated in the Annual Inter-House Athletic Meets where I did track events including the team relays.

I have a passion for mechatronic engineering because of my interest in designing and working with automated systems including robotics and other software controlled mechanical devices. Mechatronics is one of the novel forms of engineering which is predicted to have high demand in the near future. It is also a broad discipline with applications in a range of industries. Hence, studying mechatronic engineering will present me an invaluable opportunity to gain insight into multiple aspects of engineering.

The University of Sydney being a Group of 8 University will provide me with excellent education with hands-on practical experience throughout the course. It is also ranked 1st for graduate employability and 4th for engineering and was also the first university to introduce a mechatronic program in Australia. The FAB Lab at the university will give me the necessary resources and facilities to design and build my own innovations using modern technologies.

Given my outstanding academic achievements, extra-curricular activities, assiduous work ethic and desire to excel in the field of mechatronics engineering, I would greatly appreciate being considered for potential scholarships at the University of Sydney. A scholarship will benefit my tertiary education in numerous ways. While alleviating the financial burden on my parents, a University of Sydney scholarship will undoubtedly enhance my profile when applying for internships and subsequent employment opportunities. It will also boost the recognition of the university in Sri Lanka as it will encourage more prospective students to apply.

I understand the sense of privilege and responsibility that is associated with being a recipient of a scholarship such as the Vice Chancellor International Scholarship or the Dr. Abdul Kalam International Undergraduate Scholarship at a university of the stature of The University of Sydney. I have always been at the top of my class in terms of academics and vouch to continue to approach my studies with the same diligence to affirm the faith shown in me by the university. I envisage a long-standing journey with The University of Sydney and hope to fly its flag long into the future, not just as a student but also as a successful alumnus.
